Tender Kiss

Edith Frost

Oh it hurts to stare at your picture
And think of how it could have been
But you said something about
How you'll never fall in love again
You'll never fall in love againAnd i'll try to forget
What i'm supposed to forget
I'll live in dreams of loneliness
'cause i can't let go of the love that i know
And the memory of your tender kiss
The memory of your tender kissAll i wanted was just to be near you
Whatever it was meant to be
I thought our love was made of gold
But you'll never give your heart to me
You'll never give your heart to meAnd i'll try to forget
What i'm supposed to forget
I'll live in dreams of loneliness
'cause i can't let go of the love that i know
And the memory of your tender kiss
The memory of your tender kiss
