Picking Up All the Pieces

Strange Talk

I sleep alone, with no one here beside me...
And I walk alone, a million thoughts surround me
It's all in my head what you said to me
I see your face on my TV screen
I'm working it out
You're stuck in my head
A heavy night
Pushed us to the edgeIn a strangers disguise we've been walking for miles
We're picking up all the pieces
It's gravity's turn as we fall to the ground
We're picking up all the pieces
I stand alone looking for the answer
My destiny is slowly taking over
I'm out in the cold, I'm finding my way
You took what's left then you ran away
I'm waiting for all the scars to heal
This was the start, the start of something realIn a strangers disguise we've been walking for miles
We're picking up all the pieces
It's gravity's turn as we fall to the ground
We're picking up all the piecesWe're picking up all the piecesIn a strangers disguise we've been walking for miles
We're picking up all the pieces
It's gravity's turn as we fall to the ground
We're picking up all the pieces
In a strangers disguise we've been walking for miles
We're picking up all the pieces
It's gravity's turn as we fall to the ground
We're picking up all the pieces
