Musical Soulmate

Mark Salling

I remember when I realized
The depth of your beauty for the first time
A million ears had heard you
But none had listened quite like mineEvery phrase that leaves your lips
Makes me feel as if I'm paralyzed
Talking is trivial, sing another crazy note
And I will be the reloadThe troubles that we knew before Disappear and all I know is that
It makes no difference where you come from
I don't care if you need my love
You know I'll be there
I swear I want to sing to the world
No need to keep it a secret
You are the one, the only
My musical soulmateDarling listen
The audience is calling you
(They're calling you)
There's no way in hell that
They will ever feel you like I doIt makes no difference where you come from
I don't care if you need my love
You know I'll be there
I swear I want to sing to the world
No need to keep it a secret
You are the one, the only
My musical soulmateIt makes no difference where you come from
I don't care if you need my love
You know I'll be there
I swear I want to sing to the world
No need to keep it a secret
You are the one, the only
My musical soulmate

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/