Open Windows

I Can Make A Mess Like Nobody's Business

Now I saw you standing tall
Head to the wind like an ocean breeze, but calm
Waiting there for walls to come up on both sides of you and fallI've been hoping and noticed I'm lost in a sea, unfocused.
Passing the waves that's been riding the dream I hide in.It's so loud, up with the sun
I crawl out of my home
I noticed I'm lost
In what I've becomeAnd I'm hoping to notice a window that I don't want to close
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?So I'm hung loose like a curtain
I flow, making the wind look so cold
I'm holding everything so closeAnd I'm hoping I notice a window that I don't want to close
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?
Where do you want to go, to go? Where do you want to go?I said hope, it's what makes us hold so long
