

She's Too Good To Be True

Exile

It's getting late the day's at its end
And my favorite time is right around the bend
It's when the time comes to turn the lights down lowShe pours the wine and I lock the door
And she takes my hand like so many nights before
That's when I know Heaven's waiting for meShe's too good to be true, she blows my mind
She's still the one who thrills me time after time
It's unbelievable the way she moves meShe's so easy to love, so tender to hold
She touches me like no one I've ever known
The way she moves me, she's too good to be trueRadio plays a melody
One designed especially for her and me
An old love song that we used to slow dance toAnd when she says how happy she's been
That old familiar feeling comes over me again
And I count my blessings how lucky I amShe's too good to be true, she blows my mind
She's still the one who thrills me time after time
It's unbelievable the way she moves meShe's so easy to love, so tender to hold
She touches me like no one I've ever known
The way she moves me, she's too good to be true
The way she moves me, she's too good to be true
