

Missing

Arcadia

And as I wandered down to where you lay the blood rushed up to meet the roses in your hair
I thought I saw you smile
But now I don't see you anywhere
Whispering your love song in my ear
how can you touch me when you're not really here? Stumbling out, I made my way towards the open door climbing fast the sun broad streaming laughter down into your empty gaze Where can I find you?
now I want to join in your game
I hear you calling
I hear you ... calling (calling calling calling calling calling)
whispering your love song in my ear
how can you touch me?
how do you really dare?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>