D.I.B.

Mors Principium Est

[lyrics by Ville Viljanen]Behind the gate lies another man one more step and he would be free he's face so cold and it's turning into stone is this another dreamI dream of the lives that hides in this valley of sacrifise they are hidden somewhere beneath the surface and i can hear them breathingNow turn away don't look ever back
I can see the flames
I can feel my strength and now the one have returned from it's journeyThose creatures (are crying) this silence (is fading)
to get out from this pain of mine I have to be the oneBehind the stars lies another place where this man has allready been the halls so white, the walls so great is this the place i dremtIf they call my name I don't wan't to know if they leave behind will they turn away I just want to see all the stars above in the sky in the beautiful spaceNow turn away
don't look ever back
I can see the flames
I can feel my strenght
and now the one have returned
from it's journeyThose creatures (are crying)
this silence (is fading)
to get out from this pain of mine
I have to be the one too

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/