

Her West Was Wilder

Brooks & Dunn

Theres a picture of us in Baha, California
Eatin' fish tacos and drinkin' cold, cold beer
And man, we had the time of our lives
Yes, that was a very good yearDrove all the way up the coast of California
All the way up to 101
One time we cruised all the way to Vancouver
Just to watch the settin' sun, yeah
Just to watch the settin' sunEvery time I looked in those far away eyes
I could see me gettin' left behind
I gave her my best
But her west was wilder than mineGot lost in the desert and found an Indian casino
And she started rollin' those nines
Stackin' up the chips half way to heaven
Without even tryin'We watched it all go at the roulette wheel
She let it all ride on the black
She said dont worry baby
You cant keep what you never had
Cant keep what you never hadLaugh like a devil and howl at the moon
I knew I was losin' my mind
I gave her my best
But her west was wilder than mineAnd I was gasin' up in a dust storm outside of Sedona
She was chasin' tumbleweed
She flagged down a kenworth and jumped in a cab
It was the last of her Id ever seen
It was the last of her Id ever seenWhere the wild wind blows and anything goes
As long as it's over the line
I gave her my best
But her west was wilder than mine
It was wilder than mineThere's a picture of us down in Baha, California
Eatin' fish tacos, drinkin' cold, cold beer
