

Skin Collision Past

Wild Moccasins

hollowed eggs are hatching on brother's head blushing cheeks showered with floating shells the hand that i catch is a brighter red the hand that i raise how it turns me pale swollen tears swallowed by a pavement sea authority figures look for me the mess that i made how it makes me dwell the hand that i caught wasn't all that well my first and hopefully last

 skin collision past
 falling to the occasion a means to my evasion

my first and hopefully last occasion to fall authority figures call swallowed by a pavement sea is a brighter red

Lyrics submitted by Balcan.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>