

One World

Lionel Richie

We only have one world
We only have one love
We have so little time together, you and I
And all we have to do is try We've got so many roads before us
There are mountains we must climb but who will show us
There's a hundred million stories in the sand
But there's only one thing we must understand
If we can, yes we can We only have one world
We only have one love
We have so little time together, you and I
And all we have to do is try We've got so much pain and confusion
Are we living for the truth or an illusion?
All this fighting cannot get us very far
If we don't stop and see just who we really are
We can't go far, we can't go far We only have one world
We only have one love
We have so little time together, you and I
And all we have to do is try We just need to walk together
We just need to talk together
We just need to come together
In our hearts We only have one world
We only have one love
We have so little time together, you and I
And all we have to do is try We only have one world
We only have one love
We have so little time together, you and I
And all we have to do is try We only have one world, we only have one love
We only have one world, we only have one love
And all we have to do is try, try
We got one world, one world
