As You Said

Dennis Schocket

Let's go down to where it's clean
To see the time that might have been
The tides have carried off the beach
As you said, the sun is out of reachLet's go back to where it's clean
To see what year it might have been
The roads have carried off the smiles
As you said, to judge them at the trialsLet's go back to now that's bad
To see the time we might have had
The rails have carried off the trains
As you said, I'll never come again, again, again, again
