

A Portrait in White

Daylight Dies

I see where the lines are leading I know all I am losing slow time is taking a life not worth living I see where the lines are leading empty is this life a portrait, painted all in white a conclusion which was written in words that failed to define vanished from my sight a hope, collapsing fraught with bright a well of absence a will withdrawn

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>