

Don't Wanna Behave

Dance Hall Crashers

I can't seem to remember if you were kinder
Did you even care about my peace of mind

I find that in the end, you're just a big old I can't seem to recall why you keep on laughing
At your stupid jokes, they're a waste of your time

'Cause I find that in the end, you're just a big old bore And I never wanted more than just a little fun I don't wanna behave

I don't wanna behave
I don't wanna behave

And I don't wanna live up to your standards I can't seem to believe how your little obsession
Has you by the throat and has you running blind

I find that in the end you're just a big old I can't seem to believe how you keep on clutching
With all your might to your nickels and dimes

I find that in the end you're just a big old bore And I never wanted more than just a little fun I don't wanna behave

I don't wanna behave
I don't wanna behave

And I don't wanna live up to your standards I'd always thought that we had the same goals
But now I know what you're after

You'll do anything to get what you want And there's nothing that wouldn't put past you
It's pathetic to see how uptight you can be

When things don't all go your way I can't seem to remember when you first began to Start this shit and tried to mess with my mind

I find that in the end you're just a big old I can't seem to recall why years have gone by
And you're still the same, you stay trailing behind

And I find that in the end, you know you're a big old bore Who wished that she'd had more than just a little fun I
don't wanna behave

I don't wanna behave
I don't wanna behave

And I don't wanna live up to your standards I don't wanna behave, don't wanna behave, don't wanna behave
I don't wanna behave, don't wanna behave, don't wanna behave
