

Drift

Brothertiger

Hallowd ghost
So suddenly I find
Wandering the night
Growing shadows on the floor
Falling through I have to look inside
Reflected on my eyes
There I see myself before
Child in the dark
Grows fond of all illumination
Emanating from the city light
Leading ever on
Towards the outskirts of this city
Where our pasts would reunite
I'm calling out
But I'm too far gone to see you
When the night falls
I drift into the chasm below
I know now
That I am still no different
From anything around me
I still implore
Following
The footprints left behind
Trailing through the times
Where we've gone through once before
She can open up my eyes
To deeper seas
Of distant memories
That I'm dying to explore
Child in the night
Moves forward to a new direction
Moving forward to a new and distant light
Leading ever on
Towards the outskirts of this city
Where our pasts would reunite
Our pasts would reunite
I'm calling out
But I'm too far gone to see you
When the night falls
I drift into the chasm below
I know now
That I am still no different

From anything around me
I still implore
