Real Life

Evermore

Welcome to the real life
Welcome to the real life
I've come to realise it's no game
No one is the same
There's so much more to life
Than meets the eye
At night I just can't sleep
The mornings come too soon
My head is swimming in
The mess around this room
Voices in the street
I hear them telling me
Welcome to the real life
Open up your eyes
Listen to the words they're saying
The chords are changing

So take off your disguise and step out of the night
Sometimes just can't think
I can't think what to do
The noise is deafening
And I can't get through to you
Voices in the street
I hear them asking me
What are we coming to?
Why are the reasons so few?
What are we coming to?
What does it mean to you?
After all we've been through
It all comes down to you
It all comes down to you
Welcome to the real life
