

When Two Empires Collide

Jinjer

Over!

It must be over right now....

Nightmare!

This nightmare has just begun!Two eagles are cruising around over my land.

Two eagles are trying to break a branch they've already bent

Two martial birds hunting each other

Two pairs of wings try to bring a brother up against his brother.The moment when I could hug my friend

It is forever lost

And now they want us to pay the cost

And now they want us to pay the cost!

When two empires collide!The day "war" was just a word is gone

The time when peace was just a children's song is gone.

We never believed terror would ever burst into our home

That was just an image on someone's wallThe minute when I could hug my brother is forever lost

I wonder if our blood is enough to pay the cost!

It's enough to pay the cost!The moment when I could hug my friend

It is forever lost

And now they want us to pay the cost

And now they want us to pay the cost!The moment when I could hug my friend

I hope it's still not lost!

When they want us to pay the cost

We refuse to pay the cost!

I call to cut the strings!

I urge to fold down your wings!

We call you out to free us from your strings!

We urge to lay and fold down your wings!When two empires collide!
