

These White Lights Will Bend to Make Blue

Azure Ray

Drive away, just get on the interstate
And slip through this closing gate
Pulled into this cheap hotel
I called just to wish you well You said, "Don't let love break you down"
Well, just show me how and let me never be broken Tomorrow a new point of view
These white lights will bend to make blue
Now, this can all look new to you Are you still living there?
Walking the streets with your hollow stare
You say there's loneliness everywhere
So we have nothing to loose The music plays all day long
And sorrow looks beautiful and lovers seem mystical Tomorrow a new point of view
These bright lights will bend to make blue
Now this can all look new to you
