

Now There's You

Justin Hines

Out this window
A greater world beyond
With places I will never see
But bring on the oceans
Bring on the tides
Bring on the view from every side
'Cause all these things are worth the ride
And I know now

I don't have try
To be another
There's healing inside
With no undercover
I thought love in its glory would never be my truth
And that's all I knew
But now there's you

At this moment
You're looking to align
With faces you have never known
For all of the meaning
All of the signs
For all of the things that make me smile
You'd give to me for all our lives
And it's clear now

I don't have try
To be another
There's healing inside
With no undercover
I thought love in its glory would never be my truth

And I don't have to run
From all of these feelings
I can look at it all
And love what I'm seeing
For old ways would end with something left to prove
And that's all I knew
But now there's you

Now there's you
Who would've thought it's you
Oh, lost in you?

I don't have try
To be another
There's healing inside
With no undercover
I thought love in its glory would never be my truth

And I don't have to run
From all of these feelings
I can look at it all
And love what I'm seeing
For old ways would end with something left to prove
And that's all I knew
But now there's you

Now there's you

Now there's you

---

Lyrics submitted by Alanna Memme.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>