There

Bilmuri

We've had our fights.
And I've had my share of sleepless nights.
I kept thinking I was the only one that's right.
I thought you'd be out of mind and out of sight.

After half a year, I'm realizing now.
That it's just starting to weigh me down.
I can't deny that I've made you bleed.
And I can't deny you were there for me.
And if you ever needed me, I'd be there.

I waited for the crash and it came so late.
All these bruises here grow darker everyday.
I'd cut my heart open to show you my stain.
Can't stand the thought of me just letting it fade.

And after half a year, I'm realizing now.
That it's just starting to weigh me down.
I can't deny that I've made you bleed.
And I can't deny you were there for me.
And if you ever needed me, I'd be there.ï»¿

Lyrics Submitted by Battista

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/