

Everybody Loves A Happy Ending

Tears For Fears

Tow the line
Tow the line
Wake up, your time is nearly over
No more the supernova
No action guaranteed
Wake up you've had an operation
Ideals above your station
Too much reality
Think about the wasted time spending
Watching mother nature's knees bending
Everybody loves a happy ending
Wake up you're on your own agenda
Give up the great pretender
With baby eyes of green
Wake up you're holding on to nothing
You know you're only bluffing
As dead as autumn leaves
Think about the wasted time spending
Watching mother nature's knees bending
Everybody loves a happy ending
Don't you just love a happy ending?
Oh yeah well so do I
And all your love will shine on everyone
The darkness of the day a curse in every way

You try to see the light
But you don't know why, don't know why
They tell you on the phone
To give your God a bone
And grow a set of wings like a butterfly
The guardian at the gate
Reminds you that you're late
You try to take your time
But you tow the line, tow the line
To children of the world and daddy's little girl
The grass is always green on the other side
So stay and breathe new life
Wake up, wake up, wake up, wake up
Wake up, wake up

Everything is moving faster than you think

Your pen is running out of ink

Fill up your bath and kitchen sink

They're really kickin' up a stink

You never found the missing link

You should be happy in the pink

You're in demand but out of sync

A nod is as good as a wink

Once more my dear friends to the brink

All your love will shine on everyone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>