Thank You

Kaci Brown

Thank you, for being everything you always are For being there like no one else you know my heart Do you realize that's what you've done for me You made me see that love is worth believing in I want to thank you For being the one thing I can count on in my life For always giving more than you have to give I love you for everything you do, I just want to thank youYeah, thank youI want to give you all you've given me From the sweetest gifts down to the little things Anything you need, everything I am I'll be loving you until forever nowI want to thank you For being the one thing I can count on in my life For always giving more than you have to give I love you for everything you do, I just want to thank youFrom sunrise to sunset, you know I'll do my best To say thank you, thank youI want to thank you For being the one thing I can count on in my life For always giving more than you have to give I love you for everything you do, I just want to thank you I just want to thank you, and I thank you

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/