

You Lost the Sweetest Boy (Rerecorded)

Mary Wells

(Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah) You had the sweetest boy in the world
Without a doubt you were the envy of every girl
You're the kind that's never satisfied
You want every boy to pass you by
But the tables turned (the tables turned)
'Cause his words tell you're done
Now the hurts on you
Your little scheme backfired, it's true
You thought it was fun to make the boys run [Chorus:]
You lost the sweetest boy that you had that time
The sweetest boy that you had 'Cause now he's hangin' around my door
More happier than before
Now you're in misery 'cause you lost him to me
Now the hurts on you, now the hurts on you
Your little scheme backfired, it's true
You made bets, any boy you could get [Chorus] (Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah)
(Oh yeah) Yes, your loss is my gain
'Cause straight into my arms he came
You want every boy to pass you by
Now the hurts on you, now the hurts on you
Your little scheme backfired, it's true
Now tears of regret just covered your face [Chorus]

Songwriters

Dozier, Lamont Herbert / Holland, Edward, Jr. James / Holland, Brian Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>