

Do Your Worst

New Years Day

You gotta nasty little side of you that's new to me
I wish I knew the signs were on the wall for all to see
A penny for your thoughts, a dollar for a rational one
You never see the glass is anything but empty So make your move I dare you If this is sugar then it's not so sweet
If this is blood then honey it's not deep
So go and do your worst and I'll do mine
But you cannot leave somebody that's been gone for quite some time Oh what a nerve to wear a smile at a time like this
You sugar coat the world when pain is at your fingertips
I place the world down at your feet and then you stumble
So go ahead and leave I'll just sit back and watch while you fall So make your move I dare you If this is sugar
then it's not so sweet
If this is blood then honey it's not deep
So go and do your worst and I'll do mine
But you cannot leave somebody that's been gone for quite some time Your thoughts delusional
When the ground opens up
You're too far gone to see it swallow you whole If this is sugar then it's not so sweet
If this is blood then honey it's not deep
So go and do your worst and I'll do mine
But you cannot leave somebody that's been gone for quite some time
