I've Been Running

Embrace

I've been running
For oh so long
There's a light that guides you
I don't see
Catch some light
Reflect it down on me
Show me where it all went wrong
And then leave
So that I can be alone
I've been running
For oh so long
There's a light that guides you
I can't see
Gives you life
While shadows take from me
Cos I believed you when you lied
Now it's fear that will keep you
In your life

So hush
Don't you say the word
Cos I saw
It coming first
Regret is all that you deserve
Your lies are bad
The truth is worse
One day there'll come a time
When your questions have all dried up
And chance can come back
Into your life
Till then I know that it's all been a waste
I know that all that I feel is a waste
I know that all that I feel is a waste
Invite the chance back into your life
It's time to invite all the chance back into your life
Invite the chance back into your life, life, life, life
