Science Gone Too Far

The Dictators

Had science gone too farHark, listen here
I've been locked in this laboratory fifteen years
I had a thirst and desire
Till you came along and it all backfiredIt held the key to understand
All of the secrets stored in man
Now it will ravage all in its pathAs it grows, as it grows, as it grows
And grows and grows and growsScience gone too far, science gone too far
How did you ever break the jar?
Science gone too far, science gone too far
Maybe it hasn't crawled too farDon't let it die
Its molecular structure is one of a kind
It's a world gone haywire
Radiation only added the fuel to the fireNow there's a creature on the loose
Mammoth proportions it has induced
Innocent people have to dieAs it grows, as it grows, as it grows
And grows and grows and growsScience gone too far, science gone too far
How did you ever break the jar?
Science gone too far, science gone too far
Maybe it hasn't crawled too farAs it grows, as it grows, as it grows
And grows and grows and growsScience gone too far, science gone too far
How did you ever break the jar?
Science gone too far, science gone too far
Maybe it hasn't crawled too farScience gone too far, science gone too far
Science gone too far, science gone too far
Science gone too far, science gone too far
Science gone too far, shake it down
