

Best Friend

Madonna

I miss your brain, the way you think.
But I don't miss the way you used to drink.
I miss our talks - the Universal Law
You had a way of seeing through my thoughts.
It's so confusing - I thought I met my match -
an intellectual with talent - what a catch!
You always said we'd be better off as friends,
It was inevitable that it would end.

chorus:

Your picture's off my wall,
but I'm still waitin' for your call.
and every man that walks through that door,
will be compared to you for ever more.
Still, I have no regrets
'cause I've survived the biggest test.
I cannot lie and I won't pretend
but I feel like I lost my very best friend.
I miss the countryside where we used to lay,
the smell of roses on a lovely summer day.
You made me laugh, you had a clever wit.
I miss the good times, I don't miss all of it.
You wrote me poetry, you had a way with words.
You said you wanted more than just a pretty girl.
Maybe I challenged you a little bit too much,
We couldn't have two drivers on the clutch.

chorus:

Your picture's off my wall,
but I'm still waitin' for your call.
and every man that walks through that door,
will be compared to you for ever more.
Still, I have no regrets
'cause I've survived the biggest test.
I cannot lie and I won't pretend
but I feel like I lost my very best friend.
Yet, I have no regrets,
'cause I've survived the biggest test.
I cannot lie and I won't pretend
but I feel like I lost my very best friend.

It's so sad that it had to end.
I lost my very best friend.
Not gonna candy-coat it and I don't want to pretend.
I've put away your letters, saved the best ones that I had.
It wasn't always perfect, but it wasn't always bad.
Still, I have no regrets
'cause I've survived the biggest test.
I cannot lie and I won't pretend
but I feel like I lost my very best friend.
Yet, I have no regrets,
'cause I've survived the biggest test.
I will not lie and I can't pretend
but I feel like I lost my very best friend.
It's so sad that it had to end.
