

Let's Get Drunk

The Honeycutters

Sure I've heard the rumors, I know you've been hurt before and I understand you don't want girls like me hanging 'round your door but I don't believe the song you're singing when you're telling me you're all done with love

Baby we're already drinking, so we might as well get drunk It's the truth I've been accused of running round and picking fights

I've had some growing up to do but I think I'm ready to play nice and if the ship is really sinking what's the use in waiting til it's sunk?

Baby we're already drinking, so we might as well get drunk Everybody's gonna pick their poison we've all got something we could lose and if I'm gonna live with my choices I expect that I'll regret at least a few So while the barroom floor is spinning beneath the neon lights above

Baby we're already drinking, so let's get drunk I wanna feel your arms around me I want your kisses on my neck and I don't care much if tomorrow finds me wishing I was dead my ears are already ringing the smoke's already filled my lungs and Baby we're already drinking so we might as well get drunk
