

Holding a Mystery

Steven Curtis Chapman

I know that look on your face
 I know the secrets you tell
 Your every mood I can trace
 I guess I could say I know you well
 But how can I say I know you well'Cause when I look in your eyes
 I see a million miles across an endless sea
 I wanna sail the waves and make the great discovery
 And when I hold you in my arms
 The beating of your heart is calling out to me
 I'm holding a mysteryHow many songs will be sung?
 How many words will be said?
 How many stories of love
 Lie deep within you, waiting to be read?
 And I want your story to be read'Cause when I look in your eyes
 I see a million miles across an endless sea
 I wanna sail the waves and make the great discovery
 And when I hold you in my arms
 The beating of your heart is calling out to me
 I'm holding a mystery

Songwriters

DANA, BILL / ARTHUR, ROBERTPublished by Lyrics © Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>