Brick Window

Sean Watkins

I'm this thick black curtain that you see
Invitations all went out with easeNinety-two chances for connection die Replaced by pitch black and blinding lightYou'll find empty space where life should be Void of everything that you should seeCan you hear a cry for help behind this wall
Ten feet thick and twenty high?Behind all this makeup is no one you know (Behind...)
I safely speak the truth and watch confusion grow (Safely speak the truth and watch confusion...)Can someone my potential realize?
Can you tear me down and show your eyes?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/