In Between

Sage

I remember when we used to stay up all night long
We would never've thought we'd be in the wrong
Spending hours never really doing anything
We could hear each other without a wordIs there no other feeling in between?
Is there no other feeling in between?I've always been wondering how we could change so fast
Did it really happen in the past?
Once you told me there was nothing better than a friend
I would easily believe in a friendIs there no other feeling in between?
Is there no other feeling in between?Now I have to clear myself in front of everyone
But I'm not really sure about what I've done
It seems like you're trying to choose between love & hate
While I keep asking to myselfIs there no other feeling in between?
Is there no other feeling in between?
