

Pink Light

Fixers

Sorry, I was cruel, I was protecting myself
Drifting along with my swords out flying
Tattering my own cells and I tattered yours too

Took you and wrapped you around me like a spellOh, how now the cold seeps in, oh
Oh, how now I cast you into the windWracked by winter, I'm cupping my coals in the sand Growing like a starlight 'cross the garden of night I'll think Bones look lonely, memories surround me
Good times, skeletons are kicking at the groundOh, how the night drags on, oh
But I think I see a pink light and the coming of dawn
Oh, how the night drags on, oh

But in the fading of the Constellations I am growing strongIn the fading of the Constellations I am growing strong
In the fading of the Constellations I am growing strong

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>