Anything

Leona Naess

Where, where are we
It got so misty I couldn't see
And as you lay your head
On this sunken bed
Do you regret me?Does my way destroy you
And if I knew, could I stop these habits of mine
'Cuz when I open my eyes I give anything to see you
Do I drive you away with these pictures of blue?
When I open my eyes, I give anything to see you, to see youDo the shadows brighten you when you sleep?
I feel alive, I'm no longer a storm
This heart is getting warm
Tell me, do you regret me?Does my way destroy you
And if I knew, could I stop these habits of mine
'Cuz when I, open my eyes I give anything to see you
Do I drive you away with these pictures of blue?
When I open my eyes, I give anything to see you, to see youI don't have cause to hate anymore
I'm not afraid to be alone
Well sometimes I catch myself laughing
And it's all because of youWhen I open my eyes I give anything to see you
Do I drive you away with these pictures of blue?
When I open my eyes I give anything to see youWhen I open my eyes I give anything to see you
Do I drive you away with these pictures of blue?
When I open my eyes I give anything to see youWhen I open my eyes I give anything to see you
When I open my eyes I give anything to see you
When I open my eyes I give any, anything
When I open my eyes I give any, anything
