

Heaven Torn Asunder

Cradle Of Filth

Rise, ablaze, libidinous, Devildom voyeurs
Ascend to smother the light Nascent aeon's confer
Chaos is spat from the black eternal sea
Serrated mountains of mad shadows carving towards misdeed
Storm choirs gather a pestilential hiss
Sunset evokes Luciferian fire
The skies are ruptured like a knifed orifice
Supernal vestments hang tattered
Cathedrals shriek to pulpit oratory
Invasions scale Babel's ivory towers
Poised to sodomize a world upon it's knees
(Victory spent, breathe deep benighted scent)
We are as a flame born unto the darkness
Desires burning in palatial glades
And virtues once aloof, now worming beneath us
Shalt see their children, pleasuring as slaves
Attack
Wreak atrocities on those we have despised
Judgments be riven, from the skies
Darkness empower let us master prophecy
Fulfilling destiny the promised fever
Bedizens eyes paralyzed with blasphemy
Written in flesh across the howling ether
Artemis, spread the bliss of this Lupercalia
With stars erased, throw wide the gates
The infidel soon unmask her face
Neath silken shroud she waxes horn
Sharpened to skewer dawn
I am as a plague, born to the priestess
The secret amour of her arch angelic rape
Jaded-eyed when my lovers, possessed
Screamed out their agonies, upon the stake
The most August sorcerers of Hades
Darkly seized for me a throne
And the upraised scythe so terribly scribed
Vengeance in Jesuit blood on stone
From this ransacked celestial temple
I hold the prophet's severed head unto all nations
Tremble before us Lords of the star-veiled red sepulchers

Rushing death wards, our Tartarean fires
Kindle pandemonia to furnace the earth
Our voices are opened graves
Through which the never-dead escape
From dank, abyssic dream
Pursuing ascendancy
The enemy has held three seasons
Imparadised, whilst we writhed
To psycho-dramas penned by aerial decree
Now freed to plunder Heaven torn asunder
