

Another Girl (Robin Hannibal Rework)

Wild Belle

I lose sleep, I lose sleep
Too much I've seen
And I weep, yes, I weep
Cut your lips upon her body Didn't I, didn't I, didn't I Didn't I treat you right? If I was so gone, why didn't you say?
You keep me waiting by
On the floor, you know I'd crawl
Just to change your mind
If I lock the door just to stall you for a moment
I won't get you, even if I tried Didn't I, didn't I, didn't I
Didn't I treat you right? I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, just another one
I'm just another girl, looking for love I'm just another one of your experimentations
You can turn me out, but I'm just another girl I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, just another one
I'm just another girl, looking for love I lose sleep, I lose sleep
Too much I've seen
And I weep, yes, I weep
Cut your lips upon her body, oh Didn't I, didn't I, didn't I
Didn't I treat you right? I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, another one
I'm just another girl, looking for love
I'm just another girl, looking for love
I'm just another girl, looking for love
I'm just another girl, just another one

Songwriters

ELLIOT BERGMAN, NATALIE BERGMAN Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>