

As You Wish

Hold for Swank

Life is meaningless without you
Love can be such a beautiful torture
My heart breaks as I long for you
Love can be such lovely torture
I will climb the hills, draw my sword
And take down anyone who tries to stand in front of me
Please know I'll never run away without you in my arms
One day lovers will dream of this undying kiss
Not of Romeo or Juliet
Stories told of our love will never die
I've slain the most unholy things
I've endured such terrific pain
Finally I'll feel your caress again
I've braved the cold and lonely seas
I have prevailed against the odds, then again
I will climb the hills, draw my sword
And take down anyone who tries to stand in front of me
Please know I'll never run away without you in my arms

One day lovers will dream of this undying kiss
Not of Romeo or Juliet
Stories told of our love will never die
Will you forgive what I've done
To give you four white horses?
Will you forgive what I've done
To give you four white horses?
Will you forgive what I've done
To give you four white horses?
Will you forgive what I've done
To give you four white horses?
Will you forgive what I've done
To give you

One day lovers will dream of this undying kiss
Not of Romeo or Juliet
Stories told of our love will never die

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>