

Open Secret

Jazzjet

Does everyone have their dark side
Like the backside of a lover's moon
Do we cry out for justice at sunrise?
To be cleansed by confessions at noon, have mercy
 Still my heart is an open secret
Someone tell me have I been gifted or robbed
 Just as we seem to end the one act play
 We draw so much farther apart
 Each new opening, a different time for closing
Will I sing my last symphony to an empty room, empty room?
 Still my heart is an open secret
Someone tell me have I been gifted or robbed
 Most of my life has gone up and down
 And I don't see no reason for all this pain
 Who was it said, "Life is too short"
 All this hurtin' just makes it seem a shame
 Still my heart is an open secret
Someone tell me have I been gifted or robbed

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>