

Tears to Tell

Howard Jones

The time has come to watch you go, watch you go
We weathered rough storms together, couldn't conceive of the end
When I heard of your leavin' it came as a shock and surprise
Like the deepest kinds of love were lost on the inside
Locked right on the inside What is the greatest expression of love?
To let go and wish well
All these finer feelings have left me with tears to tell I couldn't be the one to hold you stop, you go
It is like stripping the soul, letting all the finest pieces go
You know these feelings between us could not be expressed
You will never know my old secrets
That they are so deeply felt, they are so deeply felt What is the greatest expression of love?
To let go and wish well
All these finer feelings have left me with tears to tell Leaving me with my anecdote and private jokes
The memory of a friend
You don't seem to know my old secrets
That they are so deeply felt, they are so deeply felt What is the greatest expression of love?
To let go and wish well
But all these finer feelings, they have left me with tears to tell
Ooh but all these finer feelings have left me with tears to tell

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>