

Intervention (Demo Version)

Silverstein

Forgive all my sins
I know I'll commit them
I know what will happen
When I trade reason for loss of control
A call to arms with holes and scars
With healthy minds we enlisted to war
You will see a shadow cast upon the light you know
There will be an angel weeping tears of blood that stain the earth below
You'll lose yourself, but you won't find any peace
You won't find any hope
You'll lose yourself
Is this where you belong? You try to avoid it
You try to abstain
But it relentlessly takes its control
You must obey
You'll cower now
You've surpassed your threshold for pain
You will see a shadow cast upon the light you know
There will be an angel weeping tears of blood that stain the earth below
You'll lose yourself, but you won't find any peace
You won't find any hope
You'll lose yourself
Is this where you be
You are not the one who's trapped inside
You can make a difference
Look into your mind
Line your memories are what defines
Who you really are
That's what makes you special (special), beautiful (beautiful)
You can still be loved
You are held in such a high regard
Your blood is contagious
Summoning desperation
Your mind is a blur
A chemical spill
You need to wipe it out
You must fight, you must fight
You must stand, you must stand
You must believe in yourself
You will see a shadow cast upon the light you know
There will be an angel weeping tears of blood that stain the earth below
You'll lose yourself, but you won't find any peace
You won't find any hope
You'll lose yourself

Is this where you belong?

Songwriters

NEIL BOSHART / SHANE TOLDPublished by

Lyrics Â© Royalty Network

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>