Bleed

Meshuggah

Beams of fire sweep through my head Thrusts of pain increasingly engaged Sensory receptors succumb

I'm no one now, only agonyMy crimson liquid so frantically spilled
The ruby fluid of life unleashedRipples ascend to the surface of my eyes
Their red pens drawing at random, at will

A myriad pains begotten in their wake

The bastard spawn of a mutinous selfThe regurgitation of my micro nemesis

Salivating red at the prospect of my ruin, my doomMalfunction the means for its ascent

Bloodletting the stringent voice to beckon my soul

So futile, any resisting tension

As death-induced mechanics propel its growthThe implement, the device of my extinction

The terminating clockwork of my gleeful bane

The definitive scourge of its mockery

The end-art instruments, lethality attainedHeed, it commands, heed my will Bleed, it says, bleed you willFalling into the clarity of undoing

Scornful gods haggle for my soul

Minds eye flickers and vellicates as I let go

Taunting whispers accompany my deletionA sneering grin, the voice of my reaper Chanting softly the song of depletion
