

Miracle

Seven Nations

Well I know what the truth is and I know where my heart is and I sometime feel there's something missing someone somewhere I'm not forgiving I find it hard believing and I feel so deceiving when I dig deep down inside and find emotions there I'm not receiving then I, see you and everything falls right into place I feel you and I've forgotten why I came, there's just you and you alone are everybody I've forgotten everyone and everything well I know the cost of constant separation and the pain of endless trepidation sometime I think that i have forgotten lessons that I'm thankful that I've gotten I remember how the constellations seemed like outlines of a painters' inspiration sometimes I wish that I could return there forget the things I've learned since I've been there then I, see you
and everything falls right into place
I feel you and I've forgotten why I came there, there's just you and you alone are everybody I've forgotten everyone and everything but you you x3
and I see you, and everything falls right into place I feel you, you are everybody and everything you are everybody and you are everything

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>