No One Needs To Know

The Jungle Giants

I've seen
Watching all the seasons changing like the reasons why I'm here
And while we go away, the winter is here to stay
But we don't mind the coldWhile everybody's sleeping, we're just quietly creeping out of our empty beds
My wheels, turning in the dark, leading me right through the park to where you areThen there it goes, another one for all the people that you came for
And I guess that you could call them the unlucky ones
Yes, we could meet, and you could park your car speeding down the street
So I won't wake the neighbors with the clicking of my feet, yeahNo one really needs to
No one really needs to
No one really needs to know
No one really needs to
No one really needs to
No one really needs to knowWell you could be fair-weathered, but can this get much better?
I don't need a reason why
Just take a step out to the street
You don't really know defeat, so you can stop and cryWhile everybody's sleeping, we're just quietly creeping out of our empty heads
My wheels, turning in the dark, leading me right through the park to where you areThen there it goes another one for all the people that you came for
And I guess that you could call them the unlucky ones
Yes, we could meet, and you could park your car speeding down the street
So I won't wake the neighbors with the clicking of my feet, yeahNo one really needs to
No one really needs to
No one really needs to know
No one really needs to
No one really needs to
No one really needs to knowAnd I don't care if this is fair
And I don't know where to go
And I don't know where to go
And I don't care if this is fair
And I don't know where to go
And I don't care if this is fair for meThen there it goes another one for all the people that you came for
And I guess that you could call them the unlucky ones
Yes, we could meet, and you could park your car speeding down the street
So I won't wake the neighbours with the clicking of my feet, yeahNo one really needs to
No one really needs to
No one really needs to know
No one really needs to

No one really needs to
No one really needs to know
