

Station

Call And Response

Was it a dream? I wanna know
I was in the lowland where all the old folks go
I wasn't here, I wasn't home
I was pickin' static up from a broken radio You just leave me at the station
And you can rest assured
That I'll be back sometime
This time next year I pack my bag, you get the door
Here's a stack of tokens for my friends on Baltimore
The look on your face, I've seen it before
I'll be gone a long time but I could be gone for more But you just leave me at the station
And you can rest assured
That I'll be back sometime
This time next year You just leave me at the station
And you can rest assured
That I'll be back sometime
This time next year You know, I need someone
I need something
I need to go back home
