Remember again

Inside a world of broken words
You cannot hide
You try to find the reasons why,
As days collide

The seconds keep on passing,
Without a sound, you turn around
And as you walk away I call to you

Don't you let go
Take a look around, you are not alone
If you'd only stop and close your eyes
Find the answers,
You'd find the answers

When you feel like the world is falling in
And you can't seem to find the way back in
Don't cry
Just hear these words and remember again

Outside, you're trembling as you stand,
In the falling rain
You try to find where you belong,
As you drown the pain

You hear the voices crying
Inside a world monochrome
But their eyes are bleeding tears of Magenta

Don't you let go
Take another breathe when you're lost again
If you'd only break the walls within
Find the courage, you'd find the courage

When you feel like the world is falling in
And you can't seem to find the way back in
Don't cry

Just hear these words and remember again

Another silent prayer fades as the night slips past
I try to reach out to the light through the glass
As it shatters

Don't you let go
Take a look around, you are not alone
If you'd only stop and close your eyes
Find the answers,
You'd find the answers

When you feel like the world is falling in
And you can't seem to find the way back in
Don't cry
Just hear these words and remember

Don't you let go
Take another breathe when you're lost again
If you'd only break the walls within
Find the courage, you'd find the courage

When you feel like the world is falling in
And you can't seem to find the way back in
Don't cry
Just hear these words and remember again

You'd find the answers
You'd find the answers
