

Bottle It Up

Lucas Carpenter

I woke up this morning and rolled over in bed
In my eyes was a girl at the top of my stand
Light brings the dawn, dawn, dawn, dawn
Sun shines through the window and the picture gets blessed
As I watched a heart appear over her chest
My breath is gone, gone, gone, gone
Gone away
Who knows what emotions will spill out in due time
If LOVE is half as good as this I'll be doing all right
As fast as I can I run through my dreams
Never tripping or falling
Understanding what a lot of it means
It it ever wrong, wrong, wrong, wrong
Laughter is sweet music ringing melody in my soul
Saying next to nothing with a shiver and a rose
My breath is gone, gone, gone, gone
Gone away
Bottle it up
Just enough to fill your cup
Quench your heart
And that's enough
Dancing in a splattered mess of guitars and wildflowers
I'm gonna be late for everything sitting in a parking lot for hours
The night's not long, long, long, long
I hear what you're thinking
A smile sits on your chin
Shining like a diamond or maybe just sequins on a string
My breath is gone, gone, gone, gone
Gone away
Who knows what emotions will spill out in due time
If LOVE is half as good as this I'll be doing alright
I'll be doing just fine
Bottle it up
Just enough to fill your cup
Quench your heart
And that's enough
Enough, you know my LOVE it's enough for you.
