

All These Things

Last Tuesday

All these things we justify them and we redraw the lines

Will it ever end?

Compromise the days behind us, let the lessons go

Will it ever end? Take it away, take everything

Take all the things that got us here

(Forget the cost, forget the loss, forget yourself)

They've been replaced Don't condescend

That will offend and in the end

What's there to say

(Another day that slips away, you know you let it get away) It's all gone, all these things hold soft again, let others in, ease up

(We let them slide)

And then there is no room for where we began

We separate and seal the fate of those to come

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>