

Coming Down

David Gray

Tears falling slow, from the bridge
Into the river below, in your eyes, I start to see
A starry veil, the ocean of infinity Moon and stars above me, mingle with the blood Inside my vein
These empty arms that should be
Holding you close, through nights of winter rain
I'm trying to spell what only the wind can explain
It's colder than ever, coming down And I'm drowning in shallows, 'cos it's in so deep
There's neon melting in the rain, I took too much powder too sleep
'Cos when I hold you naked, when I hear you laugh
I got a sword to stem the rivers and cut the moon in half Frozen stars above me, mingle with the blood inside my vein
Empty arms that should be
Holding you close, through nights of winter rain
I'm trying to spell, what only the wind can explain
It's colder than ever, coming down Coming down, coming down, coming down
Coming down, coming down, coming down, coming down We danced wild, kicked off our shoes
Not a cloud in the skies to confuse
Now the sky is cold and the sea is wide
And there's nothing to be done 'cept reflecting the sun
And scratching the mountainside Frozen stars above me, mingle with the blood inside my vein
Empty arms that should be
Holding you close, through nights of winter rain
And I'm trying to spell what only the wind can explain
It's colder than ever, coming down Coming down, coming down, coming down
Coming down, coming down, coming down, coming down
