Spend A Lifetime

The Rifles

As I walk up a street
I lift my head up and I face you
You look good and you smell sweet
It makes it harder to embrace youIf I was back in primary
In a playground I would chase you
But I'm not, I'm just me
You know you might be what I'm looking forBut my head won't function properly
And my feet don't move in time
And next week I'll forget probably
But today you blow my mindAnd as we talk I go all red
And I'm feeling like a school kid
All these thoughts that fill my head
I bet I'll say something stupidJust play it cool and keep it calm
And remember what your mother said now boy
Just use your charm
But all that good advice gets lost somewhereCause my mouth just won't work right today
And my head is full with lines
If only I could find the words to say
We could spend a lifetimeSpend a lifetime...
