Floating Away

Fishboy

As the gravity bends I prepare to ascend to the far great beyond floating away, floating away I am goneI lift off the ground, I don't know where I'm bound but I'm far better off floating away, floating away I am gonethe moments the seconds the minutes compile the inches, the feet, the yards, the miles in a while my sorrows will be far gonethe sirens they wail, they bid me farewell to the new rising dawn floating away, floating away I am goneits over, I'm frozen, locked in the light farewell to the darkness farewell to the night its brighter much brighter than the morning sun if this is truly the end I will never again sing a sorrowful song floating away, floating away I am gone
