Dressed In Black

Silent Civilian

You sacrificed all but hate, laced with lies
You have brought us shame
Clever disguise, your sedate
Angel eyes did not contemplateDeception, infection, the end
The tragedy that you became
Your reckless intentions descend
Your promises were all in veinYour wall's painted red
Your heart's dressed in black
A selfish alliance for deceit
Your conscience is dead
Your vicious attack
A twisted desire, a new diseaseYou nurtured your lies they grew into sin
You waited to strike so patiently
A constant regret the hate that's within
A bouquet of painful memoriesYou sacrificed all but hate, laced with lies
You have brought us shame.
Clever disguise, your sedate
Angel eyes did not contemplateDeception, infection, the end
The tragedy that you became
Your reckless intentions descend
Your promises were all in vein
