

Phone Call

Forever the Sickest Kids

Well, I'm just a fool for you and I think I'm going crazy
I can't control myself, contain my thoughts
It's eating me up inside Now I see everything a little more clearly
The bad outweighs the good things
Was this ever a good thing for me, oh?
Was this ever a good thing for me, oh? You're just a phone call away
Every day you seem further away (You're just a phone call away)
I'd do my best, throw my pride aside and apologize
Cut myself down a notch
(Every day you seem further away)
And I know I said some things that hurt
Through ninety seven missed calls I'll finally get over you All I, all I really wanted was a good job
A nine to five, never seemed to cut it
Was too wrapped up in her to be working like that Soon you'll see that everything will work out for me
So keep your promises you promised to me, oh yeah You're just a phone call away
Every day you seem further away (You're just a phone call away)
I'd do my best, throw my pride aside and apologize
Cut myself down a notch
(Every day you seem further away)
And I know I said some things that hurt
Through ninety seven missed calls I'll finally get over you You're taking me places I've never been You're feeling me out and I'm filling you in What's more important saving yourself or letting me in?
What's more important? What's more important?
What's more important saving yourself or letting me in? You're just a phone call away
Every day you seem further away (You're just a phone call away)
I'd do my best, throw my pride aside and apologize
Cut myself down a notch
(Every day you seem further away)
And I know I said some things that hurt
Through ninety seven missed calls I'll finally get over you Well, I'm just a fool for you and I think I'm going crazy
I'm just a fool for you and I think I'm going crazy
I'm just a fool for you and I think I'm going crazy
I'm just a fool for you and I think I'm going crazy
